COOL WATER MEET SET

Grange Calls Public Conference Mar. 24; Users Ask Parley

Preparations in some form were under way this week for three meetings in the county in the not distant future for further public airing of the complaints of users against the lack of satisfactory service in the ditch of the Georgetown Divide Water Company.

The Chamber of Commerce has asked George Eberhard, of Cool, to present the complaint of the users at its meeting at Hotel Raffles Monday night.

Pilot Hill Grange is making preparations for a community meeting at Cool on Friday night, March 24, to which members of the Grange, the Farm Bureau and all other interested parties are being invited.

A committee of Georgetown residents has written T. J. Chamberlain, of Auburn, said to be one of the officials of the water company, inviting him to visit Georgetown for a public meeting.

At the Cool meeting on Friday of next week, State Grange Master George Sehlmeier is expected to be present and it is reported that a representative of the state Farm Bureau Federation also will attend.

The call for the meeting, issued through L. J. Esper, secretary of Pilot Hill Grange No. 1, says:

"The seriousness of the water problem on the Georgetown Divide is well known to everyone in El Dorado County.

"George Sehlmeier of the California State Grange has been greatly interested, and to get advice from his wide experience the Pilot Hill Grange No. 1 is calling an open meeting at the Cool Hall on March 24, at 8 p. m., when Mr. Sehlmeier and other speakers will talk. Everyone interested in this serious water situation is welcome.

Olson "Ribbed" At Dinner

"Clown Hall Tonight" Lampoons Governor At C. Of C. Banquet

SACRAMENTO, (UP)—Skeletons were dragged from legislative closets last night when capitol newsmen joined the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce in lampooning Gov. Culbert L. Olson and other state officials at a stag gridiron dinner.

More than 1,000 guests roared during presentation of a hilarious skit, "Clown Hall Tonight," which poked fun at Olson's record budget, his works program for unemployment relief, the Tom Mooney case, Philbrick report on legislative graft, senatorial committee meetings, Lieut. Gov. Ellis Patterson and his skirmishes with a conservative senate, lobbyists, "screwy" bills and other capitol topics.

Probably no one enjoyed the satire more than the Governor, although the dramatizations struck at some of the most controversial subjects of his administration.

The governor struck back at his critics after being assured his remarks were "off the record." He rubbed his hands and good-naturedly harpooned the senate Republicans and capitol newshawks.

GIRL SOFTBALLERS TO MEET TUESDAY AT P. G. & E. HALL

While some of the men's organizations have all ready begun their preparations for the coming softball season, they are not going to have the field exclusively to themselves.

"The ladies are going to be represented again this year, although what the nature of their participation in the sport will be has not yet been determined.

All girls interested in softball are asked to meet Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock at the P. G. & E. Company building. Managers of other representatives of girls' teams which expect to play are especially urged to be present.

There has been some talk of forming a separate girls' league for the season and it is said that they will depend chiefly on the number of clubs interested in such a league.

William Bordt Answers Call

Former Greenwood Business Man, German Born, Lived In County For 60 Years

On the ninety-second anniversary of his birth, on St. Patrick's Day in 1847, the body of William Bordt will be laid at rest Friday at 2 o'clock at Greenwood cemetery.

The Rev. Harold Morehouse will conduct the last rites, under the auspices of Memory Chapel, at the graveside.

Mr. Bordt died on Wednesday at a hospital in Placerville where he had been an inmate since 1926.

He was a native of Germany and came to America as a young man, coming to this county almost sixty years ago and settling in the Greenwood district. He acquired a store and saloon business in Greenwood which he operated successfully for many years.

Thrifty, industrious, and honest as the day is long, Mr. Bordt was generous to a fault and although at one time he was reputed to possess a reasonable competence, this in later life had disappeared.

Among the older residents of the north side of the county and of the Greenwood section particularly, Mr. Bordt had many friends who will join on Friday in a last tribute of respect to his memory.

BLOOD POISONING FATAL TO MRS. VICTOR GRANT, OF DIAMOND SPRINGS

Mrs. Juanita Grant, wife of Victor Grant, of Diamond Springs, died Wednesday evening at a hospital in Placerville where she had been a patient for the previous week for the treatment of blood poisoning.

The affliction was said to have resulted from infection which set in when the patient sought to relieve the discomfort of poison oak irritations on her face by scratching them.

The funeral arrangements are in the care of Memory Chapel and services will be held Monday morning at ten o'clock from St. Patrick's Church. Burial will be at the new Catholic cemetery.

The deceased was a native of New Mexico, born September 15, 1911, and came to El Dorado County with her husband and their two children three years ago. Mr. Grant being employed in lumbering at Diamond Springs.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by two children, Betty Jean, aged seven, and Victor, Jr., aged five years. Beside the two sisters, of Albuquerque, Mrs. Grant also is survived by her father, Wayne Russell, of Albuquerque, who for some time past has been visiting the family at Diamond Springs.

Oroville Fails To Levy Mosquito Control Tax

OROVILLE, (UP)—With considerable apprehension, this city of 4,000 persons seeks means of collecting $2,600 in taxes which the county auditor forgot to levy.

The $2,600 is levied annually to be used in combatting mosquitoes. No provision was made for the fund this year.

6,500 To See Bear-Webfoot Hoop Contest

EUGENE, Ore., (UP)—Tonight Coach Howard Hobson will send his University of Oregon team against University of California in the first game of the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate basketball championships.

When Referee Emil Piluso blows his whistle at 8 p. m., in Oregon's huge McArthur Court, an estimated 6,500 persons will see a webfoot team hailed as the greatest in the northwest history and sporting two All-American candidates — Laddy Gale and Slim Wintermute—attempts to gain the right to represent the Pacific Coast in the national championships.

Although March 17th is Friday, the observance of the anniversary will be held in Placerville on Saturday evening and, as usual, at the I. O. O. F. hall.

The schedule of the night will follow that used in previous years. A chicken and ravioli dinner will be served beginning at 5:30 o'clock. At seven-thirty or a quarter of eight, the entertainment program will be held, to be followed by dancing.

A number of those who will appear on the program are well known artists who previously have contributed their talents to the success of St. Patrick's Day programs in other years. Among these are Rudy Caffaro, Miss Mary Tomasetti, Frank Consiglieri and others.

A feature of the entertainment which will be of special interest this year will be the appearance in costume of the Placerville Junior Pioneer Quadrille Club, a children's organization which bids fair to claim great success in executing the old-time dances.

SAFETYWAY STORES PUT ON '49ER DANCE AT DISTRICT FROLIC

Fourteen employees of Placerville's Safetyway store, with their families and friends, were at Sacramento last Saturday evening to attend the annual dance of Safetyway employees of the Sacramento district, held at the Elks Temple.

Under the direction of J. E. Green, manager of the Placerville store, the employees had prepared a tableau in which they all appeared in '49er costume and in various marching formations, displayed cards which spelled out "Placerville No. 318," that being their store number in the organization, and "Hangtown '49ers."

Mrs. Green received an award for her '49er costume.

The placerville party included Mr. and Mrs. Green and son, Eldon, and Jean Eddy; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bassett, Miss Nona Green and Otto Justus; Miss Jeanette Pierroz and Lawrence Pierce; Mr. and Mrs. Harper Brown, Elton Kirkland and Alfred Beal, all of Placerville, and Miss Virginia Thorpe, of Sacramento.

AGED COUPLE FOUND IN SUICIDE PACT

PALO ALTO, (UP)—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hayes, elderly Palo Alto couple were found dead in the back seat of their parked automobile today in an apparent suicide pact. Police said they died of carbon monoxide gas poisoning. They apparently had been dead several hours when they were found this morning. They left several sealed notes which were turned over to the coroner's office.

Kelsey Farm Center To Meet Friday Night

The regular meeting of the Kelsey Farm center will be held at Kelsey Hall on Friday evening. According to word received by the Farm Advisor's office, Center Chairman F. M. Holt hopes to present a program in keeping with the recent observance in the county of Conservation Week.

CHURCHES TO GO TO CONFERENCE

Preparations for the sixteenth annual Northern California Older Girls' Conference, to be held March 25 and 26 at Richardson Spring, and for which El Dorado County High School is the hostess school, were concluded last Sunday at a meeting at Marysville.

Nine E. C. H. S. girls joined the conference president, Janis Ball, of Placerville, in attending the Marysville meeting at which schools in Durham, Biggs, Woodland, Marysville and Nevada City also were represented.

Twenty-eight girls from E. C. H. S. will attend the conference and some of them will report on the inspiration they received from the conference when they take part in the program for the Mother-Daughter's dinner, set for April 13.

The theme for the conference will be "Nuggets" and the talks of the two-day meeting as well as the decorative scheme for the entire meeting will be in keeping with this theme.

Those who attend the preliminary meeting in Marysville Sunday included, in addition to Janis Ball, Elaine Muir, Florence Baalke, Annette Bryan, Jacqueline Corker, Betsy Faugsted, Helen Moran, Isabel Long, Inez Bongetta and Anna Jane Basham.

Of this group, Helen Moran is manager for the Mother-Daughter banquet, and Elaine Muir is assistant manager, so that it will be seen that the relationship between the conference program and the dinner program will not be difficult to maintain.

The dinner committee also includes Beverly Carver, as manager in the kitchen and Rose Koerner, entertainment manager, and also Mary Edna Henderson, publicity manager. Miss Henderson reports that only a limited number of tickets for the Mother-Daughter dinner will be available this year and they will be on sale in the near future.

3 Flee 12th Floor Jail

Spectacular Escape First From Oakland City Hall In Quarter Century

OAKLAND, (UP)—Three men facing trial on robbery charges were sought today after executing a daring escape from the Oakland city jail on the 12th floor of the city hall building.

The escape was the first since construction of the jail 25 years ago and was made from behind locked doors and windows in a series of hound-like moves.

Those escaping were Charles Jinks, 24, held for a service station safe-cracking; Alfred Vierra, 24, held for two liquor store robberies; and Glenn Belfield, 34, an alleged gunman.

Investigators said they started their getaway when they broke apart a table and arming themselves with the table legs crawled through a large hole in the ceiling.

The hole had been made for a cable strung as a counterbalance for a temporary fire escape. It led to a corridor outside the women's jail on the floor above.

From the corridor the trio climbed an outside stairway to the roof, down another outside stairway to a balcony on the roof at the 12th floor. Using a rope which had been left by workmen cleaning the building, they swung to the 11th floor and kicked out a window.

From there they ran downstairs to the third floor where a night watchman saw them. The watchman called police as the desperadoes fled from the building.

State Relief Cost Sifted

Assembly Committee Seeks To Justify New Bid For Funds

SACRAMENTO, (UP)—Relief returned to prominence today in the legislature as an assembly social service and welfare committee put state relief administrator H. Dewey Anderson and his aides on the witness stand to justify a relief appropriation of $4,063,000 to continue dole checks through June 30.

Assemblyman Elmer E. Lore, D., North Hollywood, chairman of the committee, introduced the controversial relief bill when Dr. Anderson announced an allocation of almost $20,000,000 in January would run short on May 6.

There was prospect the hearing would continue for two days, since Dr. Anderson indicated he would have a large group of his SRA executives from Sacramento and San Francisco on hand for the questioning.

Relief critics were ready to harpoon the Lore bill, particularly in view of a senate attack on such deficiency appropriations.

Before the hearing opened, Dr. Anderson denied published reports that he is stepping out of the SRA as soon as the new "production-for-use program is in operation."

"SMITH" FAMILY CHANGES NAME IN COURT TO "JONES"

LOS ANGELES, (UP)—The Smith family of Glendale today filed a petition in court to change its name. The name it chose was—Jones.

The Robert Leonard Smith family is composed of the husband, the wife, Mattie Powers Dow Smith, and their two daughters, Catherine Ann, 16, and Barbara Lucille, 15.

To complicate matters further, the head of the family, in signing petition, said he was born neither "Smith" nor "Jones."

He had been born Robert Henry Wingo Leonard, and when a child had been adopted by Lyman Willis Smith.

His petition blamed the Smith-Jones name situation upon his adopted parent, who, when he moved from one state to another, had used the name "Jones" in preference to the legal name "Smith."

"OPEN VERDICT" FOUND IN DEATH OF GLENDALE WOMAN

SAN DIEGO, (UP)—After intensive investigation, Deputy Coroner David Gershon has recorded the mystery death of Mrs. Gertrude Jackson at Moonlight Beach as a "suicide, accidental or homicide, unknown."

Mrs. Jackson, formerly of Glendale, left her home at Encinitas on Sunday night, telling her ten-year-old son she was going for a walk. Her bruised and battered body was found Monday morning on the beach, 22 miles north of here.

Gershon said an autopsy showed the woman died from drowning, but because of a lack of evidence to show how death occurred, no inquest will be held, leaving the records open for any subsequent discoveries in the case.

Chamber of Commerce Secretary Wallace M. Ripley leaves for Treasure Island Friday to spend the weekend superintending the installation of the county's gold exhibit.

HITLER SPREADS NAZI BORDERS

Secret Police Arrest 5,000 As Germany Takes In Three Provinces

By UNITED PRESS
Adolf Hitler extended the frontiers of Greater Germany again today to include Bohemia, Moravia and Slovakia—the lands which for centuries have fought against European overlords.

Today's developments at a glance:

PRAGUE—Hitler formally proclaimed a protectorate over Bohemia and Moravia. Probably 500 arrests were made in Czechia by Nazi secret police while 200,000 Jews and other thousands of political liberals feared Nazi reprisals. Nazi anti-semitic laws were enforced.

BRATISLAVA—President Josef Tiso, by a simple exchange of telegrams, handed over Slovakia to Hitler, who immediately took it under his protection. German troops occupied Slovakia.

BUDAPEST—Hungary, announcing complete occupation of Carpatho Ukraine after severe fighting in which many were killed, announced the easternmost tip of the former Czechoslovak Republic would henceforth be an autonomous part of the kingless kingdom of Hungary.

CHUST—The government of the briefly-independent Carpatho-Ukraine fell apart as Premier Augustin Volosin fled to Rumania and Czech troops retreated to the frontier, surrendering to Rumanian frontier guards. Volosin made a last minute offer to turn the territory over to the Germans.

Buck Opposes Naval Base

Congressman Defends Mare Island Against Proposed Oakland Depot

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Rep. Frank Buck, D., Cal., today told the house naval affairs committee, conducting hearings on a bill to construct a naval supply depot at Oakland, that "such a base there is not necessary to meet the peace-time needs of the navy."

"Peace-time needs of the fleet have been met successfully by the supply departments at Mare Island and Bremerton and the naval supply department at San Diego," he said. He contended that Mare Island could be more fully developed at a much lower cost.

"Mare Island can be operated more economically," he said, "and is a more strategic supply depot than any other point in the bay for peace-time operation. There is no justification for spending $6,500,000, as approved in this bill, to build the depot at Oakland."

He suggested any differences in railroad rates in favor of the Oakland site might be eliminated if Mare Island could obtain "terminal rates."

Sports Parade

By HENRY McLEMORE

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., (AP)—Here in the city of the Alamo, Bill DeWitt of the St. Louis Browns and his star pitcher, Buck Newsom, are fighting it out over salary.

Long and lanky Buck wants $20,000 and not a cent less to pitch for the Browns this year. General manager DeWitt says that amount is doubly $7,000 more than he is worth, and Mr. DeWitt is a fellow who can get very rough over $7,000.

The battle, they tell me here, may last forever. Because every time one of the opposing parties begins to weaken he passes by the Alamo and just the sight of that shrine of courage and refusal to yield gives him courage a shot in the arm. One look at the Alamo's adobe walls, inside of which Travis and Crockett and Bowie fought to the finish, and DeWitt and Newsom square off all over again and vow never to give in.

I talked with Mr. DeWitt, and from his remarks he must have just come from a visit to the Alamo. He breathed words of highest defiance.

"Newsom can stay out here forever before he'll get $20,000 from us," he said. "We always have been fair with him, and we want to be fair with him now, but he isn't worth that sort of money."

"What about those twenty games he won last year?" I asked. "You could use 20 more just like it this year, couldn't you?"

"Sure, we could. But we could also do without those 16 games Buck lost. You know, he never mentions those. Whenever I see him he harps on those we won, never mentions the ones he lost."

"And he never says anything about that earned run average of 5.07—which wasn't the best in the league by a whale of a lot?"

Newsom, who came here to talk terms and get nowhere, thinks the Browns should trade or sell him if they can't afford to pay what he demands.

"I would hate to leave the club, because I like it, but a man must watch out for himself. Pitchers don't last forever, and I would like to get mine while the getting's good. Nobody can say I didn't do my share of the work last year."

And nobody can, because Buck was a workhorse. Winning 20 games with a seventh place ball club is not something a man can do in his sleep in the first place. Newsom was one of the two pitchers in the league to start 40 games, and he had the most completed games to his credit—31.

The South Carolinian pitched the most innings of any pitcher in the league, 330, and faced the most batters, 1261. Buck and Bob Feller were the only one-hit pitchers in the American last year, and Buck's feat of striking out six successive Yankees tied the league record.

Newsom is no DeWitt's only holdout worry. Out in California sulking in the most approved fa-

ETHEL BARRYMORE WILL PLAY IN SACRAMENTO IN "WHITE OAKS"

Advance demand for tickets to "Whiteoaks," the Mazo De LaRoche drama starring Ethel Barrymore which will come to the stage of the Alhambra Theater in Sacramento on Friday, March 24th, has been so heavy that the Ware-Hazleton management is considering a matinee performance in addition to the evening show already scheduled.

Whiteoaks is the drama of the Canadian family of that name celebrated in a series of novels known as the "Jalna" books. Miss de la Roche also made the dramatization which ran for 965 performances at the Playhouse in London, England, and in which Miss Barrymore is now touring following a highly successful season in New York.

"Whiteoaks of Jalna," published in 1929, topped the list of "best sellers" for that year, while the other four books of the Jalna series are still among the most popular on the library shelves. The Whiteoaks are that group of hardy Canadians who are, individually and collectively, no less fantastic than the Sangers, immortalized in "The Constant Nymph." Dominating all of them, of course, is Gran Adeline Whiteoak (Ethel Barrymore). With the authority of her 101 years, she welds them into a unified force. Sometimes she brings them to obedience by terrifying them. Again she summons their fierce pride of family, but always she commands.

The play employs fragments of the several Jalna novels, but it stems chiefly from "Whiteoaks of Jalna." This is the story of Gran and Fench. The boy, an outcast in the home of horse lovers and hard drinkers, furtively devotes himself to music. Only Gran gives sympathy to his ambitions, and it is she who shields him from the rough rivalry of his brothers Renny and Piers, and the younger half-brother, Wakefield.

Victor Payne-Jennings, who produced the play both in London and New York, has retained virtually all the New York cast, including Harry Ellerbe, Robert Shayne, Wyrley Birch, Reynolds Denniston, Lenora Chippendale, Peter Fernandez, Joe Reeder, Audrey Ridgwell and Martha Hodge for a tour of the larger American cities. Tickets are available at Ye Music Shoppe.

shion, are Ralph Kress and Don Heffner.

They have demanded substantial raises, and De Witt said NO. They can stay in California until this time next year before we'll meet their terms," De Witt told me. "We have made our best offers to all the boys."

The Browns, and DeWitt, leave the battle ground of the Alamo soon.

Today's Fashion

"Little girl" look.

By VERA WINSTON

THE "little girl" look, an important and charming aspect of the new fashions, is very much present in this lovely daytime frock, for now and later in the season. The fabric is navy wool crepe, with pink and navy challis print. Although the print that forms the yoke and sleeves looks like a separate blouse, it is really cut in one with the top part of the dress. The dress itself is two-piece, the bodice buttoning snugly to a wide-banded waist.

If your spirits call for "good news," you can get a lift by tuning KPO at six o'clock, and if it's variety you crave, there's Major Bowes on KSFO with his amateurs. Stay on KSFO for Tune Up Time at seven, unless you have a date with Bing Crosby, who opens the music hall at that hour on KPO. At the half hour, KGO serves a minstrel.

Amos and Andy, KPO at eight, followed at the quarter hour by the regular weekly symphony on the same station. At the half-hour, Kate Smith, KSFO.

An exposition program is billed on KGO until 9:30 and somebody still wants a divorce, if you care to listen on KSFO at that hour.

TOURISTS IN MEXICO TROD SPARINGLY ON ACCELERATOR

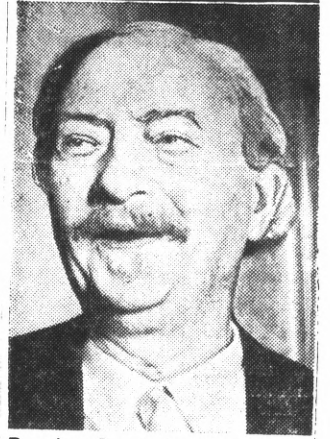

HERMOSILLO, SONORA, MEX. — (UP)—American tourists in Northern Mexico traveled cautiously today with extra supplies of fuel because of a dispute which closed all gasoline stations.

The Federal Petroleum Distribution Department, it was understood, ordered the stations closed because the Sonora state authorities demanded a tax on gasoline. The tax was the same as the one imposed on foreign companies before their properties were expropriated last March.

Tourists and businessmen here parked their automobiles pending negotiations at Mexico City to settle the dispute.

Mrs. Lyman Bender and son, Joseph, were among visitors from Placerville on Thursday.

Water Topic At Cool Meeting

Users to take part in the meeting. "This is expected to be the largest meeting ever held on the Georgetown Divide. The people are aroused as never before over the condition of the ditch, and the reported attitude of the water company."

Georgetown users of the ditch are continuing their efforts to gain information from the water company officials regarding their financial responsibility and for assurance of continued service, and are arranging a public mass meeting to be held in Georgetown in the near future.

The following letter has been sent by the citizens committee to T. L. Chamberlain, president of the Water Company, at Auburn:

"In view of the serious inconveniences suffered by the people of Georgetown during the recent prolonged shortage of water, we are determined to leave nothing undone to explore this water problem, as it vitally affects our interests, present and future, and in fact the interests of all on the Georgetown Divide.

"We are, therefore, arranging a public mass meeting to discuss the matter and would like to have you, as president of the Georgetown Divide Water Company, Ltd., answer some pertinent questions. The date of the meeting can be arranged to suit your convenience.

"We presume that you are aware of the heightened feeling the situation has generated among the citizens of this community, however, lest you might be fearful of appearing here, let us hasten to assure you that the committee in charge will guarantee you a fair hearing and absolutely safe conduct to and from Georgetown.

"The undersigned citizens committee awaits your early reply."

U. S. Kin of Pope

"The greatest thrill of my life," is how Loretta La Mas Perotti, 25, of Whitestone, L. I., expressed elation at elevation of her cousin, Cardinal Pacelli, to the Papacy. Wife of gas station operator, she said she will save her money to visit her kinsman in Rome. They have never met.

For the Woman Reader

A Practical House

Is your house made to live in or is it just a set pattern which somebody devised sometime and which is wished upon you whether or not it fits your family's special needs?

A wife and mother, who was also a high grade music teacher, solved her problem by having the studio in her home, reaching across the front of the house, with large windows on three sides. She gleaned space for this, a house of ordinary size, by eliminating the dining room, pantry and hallways, making the kitchen, small and compact and so more convenient — utilizing space in the basement for laundry, hobby room and storeroom, besides furnace, vegetable and coal rooms.

Upstairs she provided for a guest room, but the rest of that story was built into a large, many-windowed sleeping room, which took the place of a sleeping porch but could be closed in cold weather. In this room the whole family slept, with beds in a row, breathing fresh air throughout the long, sweet nights.

To provide for dressing, there were two bathrooms with two closets off each. To provide a place where the children could play and have privacy and musings with their paints, pictures, books and toys — and yet be within sight and sound of Mother all the time, the ceiling of the studio was made fourteen feet high, and one end was a balcony, which was the children's living room. When company came, the elastic table in the studio was converted into a dining table.

The particular ideas of this house are: small, compact and convenient service rooms; everything shut away in closet, cupboard, drawer or case; plain woodwork; cheery walls; built-in dinette, books cases, window seats, kitchen cupboards and linen and cleaning closets; plenty of luxurious sunlight and ample ventilation; everything easy to keep clean.

In this home, the mistress and her small children do the work—except the laundry work—because everything is convenient, mother efficient, and the family a cooperative concern.

Foot Comfort

You may foot the bill for a pair of shoes, but you will not walk beautifully unless the shoes are comfortable. Do not stand for corns and callouses. Visit a chiropodist, if you have these blemishes, and be rid of the handicaps (or should we say "footicaps")!

With feet and shoes in proper condition, the next consideration is the upkeep. They need a daily scrub and exercise of the right sort. At night when you take off your shoes, stretch your legs and wiggle your toes; forward, back and sideways.

After a foot bath, you will find it rests and relaxes the feet to massage them with cold cream and then sprinkle powder between the toes. It is a luxury to have several pairs of shoes and to alternate their use, letting one pair air and "rest" while you wear another. To keep shoe trees in them when not in use helps to preserve the shape of shoes.

Cotton

Cotton is the fluffy white fibre which covers the seeds of the cotton boll. It is ginned and cleaned and twisted in spinning the thread, so that its short fibres twist one around another, forming a smooth fine thread, which is stronger than a woolen thread but not as strong as silk or linen. It is a conductor of heat and a cool fabric for summer wear. Its particular virtue is its washability. It will come from innumerable laundries as fresh and beautiful as new.

Cotton has largely supplanted linen for sheets and pillow cases and is even very popular as a table cover. It is a favorite utility fabric and is used in sports wear for men and women, in men's shirts and underwear, and in their corduroys and work and camp garments. For school, from kindergarten through college, cotton dresses are important, since they can be kept so clean. In hot weather, they are newly prized as evening apparel.

Food Ideas

Combine juices from canned fruits with lemon and orange juice and some of the grated rind of each. Raspberry or cherry juice thus served is delicious. Ginger ale is a welcome addition to most fruit drinks.

Corn and oysters have a similar flavor. To escallop them together extends a small amount of oysters. For a sandwich filling, cream together butter and cheese and add a tart jam. Make cookie sandwiches by using a filling of apple butter or jam with nut meats and raisins. Shredded cocoanut may be substituted for the nut meats.

Vegetable Salad

There is no end to the vegetable salads you may serve. Head lettuce alone is a favorite. Combinations of vegetables may include water cress, parsley, canned spinach, green beans, shredded raw beets or carrots, yellow turnip, radishes, peas, cucumber, celery, onion, mango, cauliflower flowerets, tomatoes, canned corn, or what-have-you. Vary your salad dressing by adding to the canned product vinegar, fruit juices, or lemon juice, salt and mustard, pepper sauce, spices or chopped pickle. Part of the time serve French dressing with vegetables. It is made by combining one egg, a teaspoon of dry mustard and olive oil and vinegar, added alternately, to make a stiff dressing. This should be kept in a corked bottle and shaken afresh before each using. Chopped hard-boiled eggs or grated cheese add nutrition and flavor to a vegetable salad. Mineral oil may be substituted for olive oil.

Sheriff George M. Smith left Thursday morning for Sacramento to spend a few days at the annual convention of California Sheriffs.

BILLS TO PROTECT FARMERS IN SALES TO PROCESSORS BEFORE LEGISLATURE

Additional strong legislation to provide further financial safeguards to farmers whose products are sold to dealers and processors has been initiated by the California Farm Bureau Federation, and is now being considered by the California Farm Bureau Federation, and is now being considered by the Legislature.

In making this statement, George H. Volz of the County Farm Bureau, points to two measures, A. B. 2495 and A. B. 2496, which would give the Director of Agriculture power to audit the books and records of processors and dealers on his own motion, and to ascertain whether their financial condition merits producers selling to them.

One of the measures, relating to examination of ledgers, books, accounts, and records of dealers, would provide that every commission merchant must "promptly make and keep a correct record on each sale of farm products, showing names and addresses of purchasers as well as other details with reference to handling, and storage of such farm products."

"We are vitally interested," says Volz, "in tracing the sales of our products made by commission merchants and dealers who handle our commodities on consignment."

"Perhaps this will open up the avenue by which we can find out what is responsible for the present wide price-spread between production and consumption."

"We know we are receiving ruinous prices. We also know the consumer is complaining because his costs are high."

"The Farm Bureau is determined to solve this paradoxical problem and to shorten the gap between producers and consumers."
